

Renee Sedoo

My chair is inspired by the beauty of life in the Sierra Nevada foothills.

I used denim and fabric scraps from my home studio, where I'm usually upcycling similar remnants and material castoffs into clothing and accessories for women. I sell my pieces at art, wine and beer festivals, as well as at music festivals. I'm also at the Groveland farmers market most Fridays, beginning 7/23.

I wanted to contribute a chair this year, to express my support and gratitude to the arts council. My youngest child (Lucia Sedoo, 21) participated in Poetry Out Loud all four years of high school.
